

BIOGRAPHY ANN KING

ANN KING is a singer, songwriter and a passionate performer whose strong voice has a wide range. Ever since she was born, she has been inseparable from music. Growing up, she performed everywhere showcasing her voice in musicals and her own music in The Netherlands and Belgium.

She first appeared on to the music scene in 2015 as ANEMARY when she released several singles and her debut EP Truthfully. As ANEMARY she performed in London and at big festivals such as Bevrijdingsfestival, The Life I Live and Fringe Festival. In 2018 she released her last single as ANEMARY which won the 3FM Elevator Pitch.

The talented singer has grown up, and it shows through her work. Her music sounds more like the person she is becoming. Starting 2019 with a new attitude, and a new name to match it - ANN KING, she took it upon herself to do solo shows in the United States, including a show on Broadway, where she was received with praise for her performance. By December of 2019 she released 4 new songs with videos, next to making her debut as an author, releasing a poetry book titled "Seasons Come, Seasons Go" and toured through Austria with her live-band. The book is written inspired by her songwriting process towards her EP Fake Flowers, which is scheduled for release in April 2020.

While working on new music, you can also find Ann in the studio with several different artists, co-writing and composing songs for them. Driven by passion and determination it's hard to believe that this multi-talented young artist is only standing at the beginning of her career and with new music on its way, it's time for Ann King to make her mark in the music industry.